THE GRIDIRON FIELD

Coach Ward is working the Paris High School squad harder this week than he has ever worked them during his two year's connection with the team. There is more interest in the game with Georgetown Friday than there has been so far this year. Thirty-six football players are on the field from 3 o'clock until dark for the remaining games on our schedule. The High School team has had a highly successful season, tying Somerset in Somerset, after Somerset had defeated Frankfort in Frankfort, and after Frankfort had defeated Lexington and Louisville Male High School makes the Paris High School feel that they have a real football team and they are determined to clean up with Georgetown this week, Versailles next week, and Covington High School on Thanksgiving Day. The Paris School team has been growing better for the last three or four years, and next year with Hughes High School, Cincinnati, one of the Louisville High Schools, and Dayton High School on the Paris schedule, will give Paris one of the most attractive schedules of any, high school in the South.

It is doubtful if there is a stronger High School coach in the South than Clay Ward, at one time Capt. of the University of Virginia team, and who was left tackle on the famous team that defeated Yale 10 to 0. Paris will furnish the largest crowd for Friday's game that has ever been reached. Nash, of Georgetown, and Arnsperger, of Centre, will have charge of the game as usual.

To-morrow afternoon the M. M. I. and Lexington Model High School elevens will stage a contest on the M. M. I. field. Both teams are about evenly matched, and a fine game is anticipated, with the cadets confident of taking the winner's end of the struggle.

The following invitation has been extended the members of the Paris High School football team:

"It is the pleasure of the alumni and the Athletic Association of the University of Kentucky to invite you and your team to be our guests at the football game on Stoll Field, in this city, on Saturday, November 18. The University of Kentucky is following your team's work with

COURT NEWS

Russell Field and John Melton, colored, who were arrested by Chief of Police Link and Patrolman Robt. Lusk, on a charge of drunkenness and having moonshine liquor in their possession, were taken before Police Judge Ernest Martin, and after a hearing, held to the grand jury, at present in session. The men were arrested at the corner of Main and Eighth streets, while in an automobile. A search of the machine revealed the presence there of a quart of moonshine, which they denied ownership of. Later in the night the officials found a gunny sack on the Georgetown pike, which contained three half-gallon jars and a small quantity of moonshine.

In the Scott County Court, Tuesday, Judge Ward assessed a fine of $23.50 against Charles Gardner, of Georgetown, on a charge of hunting rabbits out of season. Gardner was placed under arrest by Deputy State Game Warden A. W. Bullock, of Paris, who is proving himself a terror to violators of the game laws.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision of the Nicholas Circuit Court in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Allison, in which Bourbon county people were involved. Allison, who resided between Millersburg and Carlisle, was given a fine of $500 and sentenced to six months imprisonment at the May term of the Court on the charge of striking and wounding G. W. Kiskick, formerly of Little Rock, a tenant on his place. He appealed the sentence to the higher court. Under the ruling Allison must begin serving his sentence next week.

CIRCUIT COURT

The Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association won its first suit against a contract breaker Tuesday morning, when Circuit Judge James C. Dedman, of Cynthiana, special judge in the place of Judge Robert L. Stout, who is ill, upheld the validity of the contract in the case of the association against Garrett Watts, wealthy Fayette county farmer, overruled his demurrer to the association's petition and gave judgment against Watts for $325 and costs in the case.

After examining the demurrer, which was filed by Judge George C. Webb, of Lexington, representing Mr. Watts, Judge Dedman signed the judgment. Because of the fact that there was some question as to the amount of tobacco actually grown by Mr. Watts, and, therefore, of the amount of tobacco he should deliver to the association, the judgment against Mr. Watts was made $325 and he pays the costs of the trial.

This decision, which will not be appealed, confirms the right of the association to the delivery of crops pledged to it, as the judgment of the court is that "the contract sued on herein, which is one of a number of identical contracts entered into by the plaintiff with different persons, is binding on the defendant as a member of said association, and is believed by association officials as most likely to prevent further attempts at 'dumping' by members disinclined to regard their word as binding when it may conflict with their immediate financial interest, in their opinion, to do so.

Judge Dedman's judgment in full follows:

"Now comes the defendant, Garrett Watts, and files his demurrer to the petition of the plaintiff herein, which is noted of record; and said demurrer being heard, and the Court advised, it is now adjudged that the contract sued on herein, which is one of a number of identical contracts entered into by the plaintiff with different persons, is binding on the defendant as a member of said association; and it is further ordered that the demurrer of the defendant to the plaintiff's petition be, and the same is hereby overruled.

"Now comes the defendant and files his answer herein, which is noted of record and there being a question as to the amount of tobacco which is owned and grown by the defendant in the year 1921, the law and the facts are submitted to the Court; and it is now adjudged that the plaintiff, Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, recover of the defendant, Watts, the sum of $325.00 and its costs herein."

At the hearing before Judge Dedman the Burley Association was represented by the legal firm of Franklin, Talbott & Chapman, of Lexington and Paris, and Worthington & Reed, of Maysville. Mr. Watts was represented by Judge George C. Webb, of Lexington.

Following the adjournment of Monday, when only the usual motion hour business had been transacted and a number of cases assigned for trial, Judge Dedman called Court at nine o'clock, Tuesday morning. A number of visiting attorneys were present from other places.

The case of L. T. Leach, who was charged with having sold a quantity of moonshine liquor to Joe Small, in May, was called for trial following the call of the old ordinary and Commonwealth cases. Leach's attorney was given until one o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, in which to prepare his case. The entire afternoon was consumed in securing the jury, twenty names being drawn before the panel was finally filled. Small testified to having purchased a pint of liquor from Leach on the occasion mentioned. This was denied by Leach. The testimony of a number of witnesses in the case was heard. After arguments the jury retired, returning in about forty-five minutes, stating that they were unable to agree. They were then dismissed. While Leach was in jail awaiting trial he broke out and left for Saskatchewan, Canada, leaving a note stating that he was leaving because of conditions in the jail. He later returned to Paris and was re-arrested. There are other charges of violations of the liquor law filed against him, including an appeal to a conviction in the County Court.

Judge Dedman stated that on next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday it would be necessary for him to be at the session of the Robertson Circuit Court, at Mt. Olivet, but that he would be in Paris on Thursday to serve the remainder of the regular three weeks' term.

Upon declining to press his appeal from the County Court decision filed several weeks ago, Kash

THE KINDERGARTEN SCHOOL

A great deal of interest is being manifested in the additional enrollment of children in the kindergarten. Miss Power and Miss Wild, the very efficient young women who are teaching the kindergarten, have reduced the rate of tuition to $5 per month and a number of new pupils have enrolled. This reduction is effective immediately and any person desiring to enroll a child can enter them at once and get the advantage of five weeks tuition for $5. Any prospective pupils for the second term, which begins after Christmas, must be enrolled before December 1. Paris is very lucky in having such a splendid kindergarten and a hearty co-operation is expected from all parents of children from 3½ to six years.

Crow began serving his sixty-day jail sentence to which was added a fine of $300 for selling moonshine liquor. Crow was placed under arrest some time ago by Sheriff M. Peale Collier and was tried before County Judge George Batterton, from whose judgment he filed an appeal and furnished the required bond. Other cases against Crow were filed away conditioned on his future good behavior.

The time of the Court Wednesday was partly taken up in considering the case of Robert Link, Eighth street groceryman. By an appeal Link was found guilty of having moonshine liquor in his possession, and his punishment fixed at thirty days in jail, and a fine of $300. At a former trial in the County Court he was fined $100 and given a jail sentence of thirty days. Link was represented by attorney Raymond Connell.

The appeal in the case of Joe Wills, was dismissed and Wills began serving his sentence of thirty days, and $100 fine. An attempt was made by his attorney, Raymond Connell to have the case dismissed on account of Wills' health, an affidavit being presented showing that he is suffering from tuberculosis. Wills was sentenced in the County Court about six weeks ago on a charge of selling liquor illegally.

Yesterday in the case of Mrs. Pearl Shumate Robinson, against I. D. Thompson, Sr., charged with assault with intent to kill, Thompson's attorneys made a motion to change the charge from assault with intent to kill to assault and battery. The Court granting this, Thompson, through his attorneys, entered a plea of guilty, and was fined $750.

The grand jury made a preliminary report yesterday afternoon, returning seventeen true bills, comprising a variety of offenses against the laws, and retired to consider other cases presented them.

The Court handed down divorce decrees in several actions, the parties being of more or less social prominence, and a number of others are under consideration.

After returning a batch of thirty-three indictments the grand jury adjourned yesterday afternoon. The final report, to the Court was as follows:

"To the Judge of the Bourbon Circuit Court:

"Having completed our labors we herewith submit our final report. We recommend to the city of Paris, Ky., that Washington street be regraded and surveyed, and that the garbage thereon be removed, and that one small electric light be placed on this street; and we further recommend that when said street is surveyed the engineer run the lines for the curb on both sides of the street.

"We further recommend to the city of Paris, Ky., that it does no more blasting in the city quarry until a proper net to cover the charges has been supplied, and that this net be used when blasting. And we further recommend that the city use smaller charges in its blasts, the charges not to exceed two sticks of dynamite, or an equivalent amount of powder.

"We further recommend that the city make some other dispositions of garbage than burning same on the city lot, and that in the future nothing be burned there except paper or other trash, the burning of which is not offensive to the public.

"We further report that we investigated both the County Infirmary and the County Jail, and we found both in good condition and well kept, and we have no recommendation to make regarding either. All of which is respectfully submitted this 16th day of November, 1922.

(Signed) "B. M. RENICK, Foreman of the Grand Jury."

MATRIMONIAL

A Record of Dan Cupid's Doings As The Days Go By

THOMAS—CLAY

The marriage of Mr. Cassius Marcellus Clay, son of the late Hon. Cassius M. Clay, of Paris, and Miss Emily Harvie Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Landon Thomas, of Augusta, Georgia, will take place at Cloister Garth, the home of the bride, near Augusta, on next Tuesday, November 21, at noon. The bride-elect is a cultured and very attractive young woman, and is a niece of Misses Ann and Emily Thomas, of Frankfort, frequent visitors to friends and relatives in Paris. Mr. Clay is prominent in the agricultural and social life of Central Kentucky, and a young man of high character.

Mrs. Cassius M. Clay and son, John Harris Clay, of Paris, and Mrs. Frederick A. Wallis, of New York, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henry Clay, Sr., in Paris, will leave to-morrow for Augusta, to attend the wedding. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Samuel Stone, of Louisville, sister of Mrs. Clay. The wedding will be a very beautiful home event.

Mr. Clay and his bride will reside in New York, where he is an attorney with one of the prominent corporation firms.

BARKER—ELLIOTT

The marriage of Miss Mary Baker, daughter of Thos. M. Baker, of Cerulean Springs, to Morgan Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Elliott, of Lexington, was solemnized in Louisville, Wednesday afternoon, Rev. J. W. Porter, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Lexington, officiating.

Mr. Elliott is manager of the Ben Ali Theatre, in Lexington, and is well-known and very popular with Paris theatre-goers. His bride is an unusually pretty girl, who has been making her home with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bayham, in Lexington.

They were accompanied to Louisville by Mr. and Mrs. John B. Elliott and several intimate friends. After a brief wedding trip they will be at home with the bridegroom's parents, on West Third street, in Lexington.

FULL PARDON FOR HIGH SCHOOL JANITOR

Charles Scott, white, who has been janitor of the Paris City Schools for the past year or two, is to-day enjoying all the rights and privileges of a free man, due to the interest taken in him by a number of friends.

Several years ago Scott became involved in a difficulty in Clark county, during which he shot and killed a man. He was tried and convicted, and was serving a sentence for murder. About a year ago he was paroled, and came to Paris, where he secured the position of caretaker for the Paris City Schools. His conduct was most exemplary, and a number of warm friends becoming interested in his case, visited Frankfort, and presented a petition signed by Rev. W. E. Ellis, pastor, and every member of the official Board of the Paris Christian church, asking for a full pardon for Mr. Scott. The committee, composed of Wm. O. Hinton, J. Will Thomas and W. A. Thomas, returned from Frankfort, Tuesday night, bearing the pardon, which they presented to Mr. Scott.

THE CANE RIDGE FUND

J. Will Thomas, Treasurer of the Cane Ridge Church Restoration Fund, received a letter Wednesday from Mrs. Sallie W. Johnson, of Covington, inclosing a check for $25 as her contribution to the cause.

In her letter Mrs. Johnson stated she was a granddaughter of Barton W. Stone, the eminent minister whose labors in the church are a matter of history, and that she would love to see the old church and adjacent grounds preserved for posterity as a lasting monument to the Christian church.

Mr. Thomas states that contributions for the fund are coming in slowly. He will be ready at all times to receive your check or the cash, and give proper acknowledgment.
